

Our group quilt responding to the history of residential schools.

HOW WE RELATE TO ONE ANOTHER:

- We begin each meeting by smudging with sage. We stand together in a circle and pass an eagle feather as we check in.
- Through Talking Circles we sit together, listening to one another's stories, and sharing our experiences and ideas.
- Each member of our circle is a valued person, whose voice we strive to hear and respect, and whose ideas we acknowledge.
- We learn about differences in our cultural backgrounds, and try to understand what it means to be in relationship with one another in a good way within this part of Turtle Island that we call Canada.
